Topical Outline

English 101 is a course in the study of rhetoric. The main goal of the course is to improve students' effectiveness in using the English language for communicative purposes. This program involves developing the following abilities: (1) the ability to write good essays, a task involving these skills: organizing a topic, stating and defining it clearly, developing it by example and illustration, expressing thoughts clearly, succinctly and accurately; (2) the ability to write in a style that is fluent and clear; (3) the ability to think logically and clearly and to deal with different kinds of evidence; and (4) the ability to understand arguments presented by others in the formal essay.

The course introduces students to the techniques of expository and argumentative writing. It places equal emphasis on structure, style and content. Classes provide extensive practice of writing skills through the frequent essays required.
